Suit Against Recall Election Explained

Attorney Ray Shonholtz, representing three Seaside voters--Theris Perdue, Anabelle Brooks and Brady Avery, held a press conference earlier this week to explain the purpose behind a suit filed in the U. S. District Court by councilman Pearl Carey and the three voters.

The suit attacks code sections on procedures governing recall elections.

Shonholtz emphasized that their suit does not challenge the recall election itself, which is scheduled for June 29, but, they contend, three code sections violate the equal protection section of the 14th Amendment of the Constitution of the United States.

The first of these, say the plaintiffs, will require Mrs. Carey to receive a higher percentage of votes in order to retain her seat than were cast for her when she was originally elected last year.

Secondly, they say, the ballot is not fair since the names of the candidates appear on the same ballot and at the same election as the recall.

Finally, according to the plaintiffs, the councilmen in the recall election must receive over 50 percent of the votes cast to retain his or her seat, while any one of the other candidates for election can be elected by receiving only a plurality of the votes.

Shonholtz, who represents three of the plaintiffs (Mr. Carey is represented by Herb Schwartz), suggests that the only fair way to resolve the issue would be to hold two seperate elections. The first election would be to resolve the recall question. If the recall were another election would be held. All the candidates including the recallees, would stand for election at this time.

The matter will be decided today (Thursday), when Judge Robert Peckham of San Jose will rule on the suit.

Mrs. Carey has issued a statement which makes her position on the issue clear. That statement follows.

"Since entering office as Councilwoman for the city of Seaside, I have attempted to fulfill all my campaign promises. I and the other members of the City Council thought it wise to remove a city attorney who was loyal only to the Mayor. We now have a City Attorney, who is loyal just to the city of Seaside and not to the mayor or City Council.

"We are moving forward with our plan to develop a park and full recreational facilities in the city, something that has never been done before.

"And we have taken over the functions of a public agency that owns on-third of the City's land and has torn down the homes of poor white and black families without providing adequate or alternative housing. It is for our efforts to provide some democratic control over the Urban Renewal Agency that has threatened the Mayor and his hand-picjed appointees enough to bring a recall action against me and the other members of the City Council. They have had the power for a long time and they want to keep it.

"I am not against recall elections in principle. However, I do feel that any recall procedure that requires me to get more votes to stay in office than was necessary to originally obtain office is unfair. The recall procedure does this. Further, the recall procedure allows those seeking my office to vote against me while giving me no opportunity to vote against them. Believing that these procedures are unfair to myself and those who wish to support me, I decided that it was important to challenge in Court the California recall election laws. Nor am I the only one doing this.

"In San Bruno recently there was a recall election and now the attorney are in court arguing that the election should be set aside because it was conducted pursuant to unfair procedures under the very same laws I", challenging. If the California Appellate Court agrees then the money that the City of San Bruno spend in printing ballots, mailing sample ballots out to the voters, and conducting a recall election, which totals several thousands of dollars, will be completely wasted. However, Mayor Haddad and his urban renewal appointees don't care about city money.

"The Mayor urged the Federal Court Judge in San Jose last Friday to ignore our pleas to restrain the election until the constitutional issues could be decided and before the city was forced to spend thousands of dollars on a wasted election. This is exactly the same thing that happened in the Seaside 19 case. There the City Council didn't want to spend city money to test the state law; but the Mayor and Saul Weingarten wanted the case kept alive in order to make it appear as if the City Council was pro-demonstrators. They Mayor didn't care that it ended up costing the taxpayers of Seaside thousands of dollars in court and attorney fees. And in our recall case, the Mayor is the one asking the Federal Court not to grant a restraining order even though now in both the Federal and California courts there are constitutional challenges to the California recall laws. I feel that before we spend a lot of money, as San Bruno did, having what may be an unconstitutional election that we may have to do over again, that we first have the court issues clearly decided.

Jobs Needed For Students

Some 800 Monterey Peninsula students between the ages of 16 and 21 will be looking for summer employment after close of school in June.

The Student Employment Service of the Monterey Peninsula at annual Easter Week registration received 734 applications, 312 young men and 422 girls. In 1970 only 622 signed up.

The sponsoring non-profit SES Committee, headed by Russel Hansen of Monterey, estimates that by the end of June the total youth registration may go over 1000.

Summer jobs may be for a few hours up to full-time daily work.

Of the 734 initially registered 420 were new applicants and 314 students requested that their files be reactivated for summer jobs. Minority race students totaled 286 or 39 percent. Disadvantaged students, eligible for federal Youth Opportunity Program (YOP) summer jobs, totaled 170 or 23 percent.

Registered from Monterey Peninsula Unified School District, the Monterey High School and the Seaside High School, are 568 students. From Carmel Unified School District, Carmel High School, 78 students are registered. The Pacific Grove Unified School District, Pacific Grove High School total is 88.

Students who are not registered still may obtain a work application form from their high school counselor and may file it when completed at the SES desk, Department of Human Resources Development, 480 Webster Street, Monterey. Mrs. Ruth Freeman is the new SES representative for the state agency, which processes applications and job orders. College students who are Monterey Peninsula residents, also are eligible for assistance under the SES program.

Prospective employers may call the SES office, 373-0143, to hire a student.

Scouts to Keep America Beautiful

Saturday, June 5, will see the greatest anti-litter campaign ever conducted in the United States, when nearly five million CubScouts, Boy Scouts and Explores observe "Scouting Keep America Beautiful Day."

The Monterey Bay Area Council, along with 520 council in the country, is now organizing for this one-day effort to clean up the eyesores that exist in our cities and on the countryside. Where possible, they will sort trash for recycling. Over 8,000 scouts in the council's territory-Santa Cruz, Monterey and Santa Benito counties-will take part in this nation-wide program.

The program is a result of a request from President Richard Nixon to the Boy Scouts of America which in part said: "It is of crucial importance to our country that each American citizen understand and accept a personal responsibility to contribute to the improvement of the environment we must all live in. A keen awareness of the importance of using our natural resources wisely is fundamental to any effort to better ourselves and our surroundings, and this understanding is particularly urgent for young people because it is they who must manage these resources with prudence and with imagination in the years ahead."

The local program includes over 200 scout groups who will clean-up empty lots, roadsides, parks, beaches, river beds and a score of other areas. Each Pack, Troop and Explorer unit, under its own volunteer leadership has already selected an area to clean and will perform the actual work on June 5.

New Officers Are Installed

Mrs. Gail Cantrell was installed as president of the Monterey Peninsula School Food Service, Chapter 20 recently.

Mrs. Martin Behrman installed the new officers May 19 at the Estrada Adobe in Monterey. Also installed were Mrs. Sam Kawashima, secretary; Mrs. William Von Protz, treasurer.

Committee chairman will be Mrs. Wendell Bruening, program chairman; Mrs. Toni Anderson, hospitality chairman; Mrs. Betty Feliz, special projects chairman; Mrs. Billy Jean Shultz, historian; Mrs. Roland Bare, publicity chairman; Mrs. James Frangos, legislative chairman; Mrs. Fred Sherman, membership chairman; Mrs. Bert Lowry, parliamentarian.

The first board meeting will be held this Friday at 2:30 in the Seaside High School Cafeteria.

Mrs. Bert Lowry gave a report at the last meeting on the recent California State Food Service Conference.

The winner of the organization's scholarship, Miss Kathy Russo, attended the meeting.

Bob Statille and James Hull led group singing with Mrs. Marty Walter accompanying them on the piano.

The evening ended with refreshments served by the members from La Mesa and Monte Vista schools.

Cranston Co-Sponsoring Bills to Expand Benefits

Senator Alan Cranston has announced that he is co-sponsoring four bills to expand benefits of retired federal Civil Service employees. In making the announcement, Cranston side:

"Federal civil servants devote a major portion of their lives to the service of their government and to their fellow citizens. Yet, at retirement, they meet with discriminatory policies of compensation, health care, taxation and survivor benefits.

"California has the largest number of federal Civil Service retires in the country: 94,230. With the high cost of living and the ever-increasing property taxes in our state, I certainly believe that our former civil servants, like their fellow senior citizens, deserve equitable compensation for past work to insure present dignity.

"For the following reasons, I have co-sponsored four bills to remove these inequities.

"* Of the 997,000 retirees and survivors in this country, 276,000 receive less than $100 per month and 667,000 receive less than $3,000 per year.

"I have co-sponsored S. 1445 to established a $200 per month minimum for a retiree with one or more dependents and a $100 per month minimum for a single retiree.

"* Federal employees currently sustain 60 percent of the cost of medical insurance.

"I have co-sponsored S. 1444 o raise the government's contribution from 40 percent to 50 percent not only for retirees but for people now employed by the government.

"* Both Social Security and Railroad Retirement annuities are tax exempt. Under present regulations, Civil Service annuities are subject to standard federal taxation.

"S.1442, which I have co-sponsored, would alter the IRS code to allow a tax deduction for the first $3,000 of such pensions. Further income would be taxed on a graduated scale on a principle much like that of the working population. Although similar legislation has been proposed allowing a tax exemption for the first $5,000, I feel that the $3,000 amount has a more realistic chance of being passed.

"* At present, retired civil servants must forfeit a portion ate survivor insurance for their dependents. Should the dependent die prior to the retiree, the retiree must continue to forfeit the same amount until his own death.

"S.1443, which I have co-sponsored, provides for a restoration of full annuity to a surviving retiree upon the death of his dependent."

Jetty Beach Acquisition In Budget

State Senator Donald L. Grunsky was successful in gaining reconsideration and approval of the Budget Item for the acquisition of Jetty Beach near Moss Landing.

The Senate Finance Committee at the recent hearing of the Budget of the State Department of Parks and Recreation removed the $1,875,000 Item from the Senate version of the Budget.

Grunsky, who is a member of the Committee, urged his colleagues to reconsider the Item in light of additional information that there was a possibility that developers might purchase the beach front property.

Assemblyman Bob Wood, who has been working with Grunsky for more than two years to save Jetty Beach for public use, was successful in gaining approval of the Jetty Beach proposal in the Assembly Budget Bill.

Grunsky's swift action now insures that funds will be in the State's final budget which will be presented to the Governor and will prevent the need for further hearings before a joint Senate-Assembly Conference Committee, which must ultimately resolve any differences between the Senate and Assembly Budget bills.

With the addition of Jetty Beach, a state beach will include all lands from the Pajaro River to the entrance of the Moss Landing Harbor, with the exception of a small parcel that the Department of Parks and Recreation is currently eyeing.

Bank to Train Disadvantaged

The Bank of America has signed contracts totaling $236,150 to train 114 disadvantaged persons in nine California cities, according to Edward Aguirre, U. S. Department of Labor regional manpower administrator.

In addition to on-the-job training for the position of general clerk and proof machine operator, a special component sub-contracted to Vocational Innovations Project in San Francisco will conduct English-speaking courses for 18 persons of Chinese ancestry.

The contracts call for provision of job-related basic education including remedial reading, arithmetic and communication skills, special counseling and orientation.

Other supportive services being provided by the firm are transportation and child care assistance and minor medical and dental treatment.

Funded under the auspices of the Job Opportunities in the Business Sector (JOBS) program, the training will be conducted, in addition to San Francisco, in Los Angeles, San Jose Sacramento, Van Nuys, San Diego, Fresno, San Bernardino and Santa Ana.

New Postage Rates Are Now In Effect

New domestic postage rates went into effect Sunday, May 16, despite a last-minute appeal by magazine and newspaper publishers and other major mailers who hoped to block the increases. Their appeal was denied by the Federal Court of Appeals in Washington, D.C., on Friday, May 14.

The second and third class increases, important to publishers, were raised from 20 to 33 percent.

Other increases, authorized on a temporary basis until the newly-created Postal Rate Commission can make recommendations to the Governors of the Postal Service on permanent changes, raised first-class letter rates from ten to eleven cents an ounce. Postcards went from five to six cents and airmail postcards from eight to nine cents.

General postage rates, it was noted, had not been increased since 1967 when Congress passed what was to become its final legislative act pertaining to postal rates. Other rate increases, proposed by Presidents Johnson and Nixon, were rejected by Congress in 1969 and 1970.

Postal officials said that most of the increases are being borne by business rather than by individuals because three-fourths of first class and airmail comes from commercial mailers.

Publishers opposing the increase in second and third class rates said postage costs would be raised by more than $750,000 weekly and could be disastrous for some smaller businesses.

Full increases proposed by the postal service on second and third class mail are planning to be phased over a period of five years, with increases for nonprofit organizations extending over a ten-year period.

The only increase in fourth-class mail applies to the book rate. Charge for the first pound was increased from 12 to 14 cents, with a one-cent increase from six to seven cents for each additional pound.

Special delivery charges on first-class mail were increased from 45 to 60 cents. A similar increase also affects airmail and "priority" mail, which is defined as any first class mail over 12 ounces in weight or air mail over eight ounces. The special delivery charge is in addition to whatever regular postage is required.

No increase was made in insured mail, but registered mail, according to its value, was affected by the new rates. A registered letter valued up to $100 was increased from 80 to 95 cents, with other increases proportionate to the amount of value.

Changes in international rates are also anticipated, but have not yet been made. However, postage to Mexico and Canada, which conformed with domestic rates, has had some increases that went into effect on May 16.

Postal officials say that mail deposited with insufficient postage will continue to be delivered to the recipient who will pay whatever postage is due.

More detailed information on new postage rates is available by calling cocal postoffices.

Every candidate that ever ran for public office calls the businessman the backbone of the community, especially if the candidates are making speeches to local service clubs. They state emphatically that if they are elected they will run government like a "good business". These same candidates exhort businessman to get involved in the affairs of the local community, to participate in the decision-making of the city, state and federal government. Large corporations, such as banks and public utilities, have instructed their manager and key employees to get involved in public affairs. We think that this is a wise policy. However, we feel that not only businessmen should get involved in public affairs. We have always strongly urged that all citizens, regardless of occupation get involved in their political affairs. After all, every decision made by a public official or legislative body affects everyone of us to some degree.

Tom Handley of H and H Supply Company of Seaside is one of those businessmen who believes in participation in local affairs. He believed strongly enough to write an open letter to all residents, property owners and businessmen in the city of Seaside. The letter urged all those interested in the future of Seaside to vote yes on the June 1 ballot. (We felt that it was a mild letter in view of the fact that Urban Renewal threatens the very existence of his business.)

So what happens when this businessman gets hinself involved in local affairs? He gets attacked by Mayor Haddad's personal "political sheet" - the so-called. "Seaside Community News".

Seaside Ripples

They called Handley "desperate" and "untruthful" because he dares to oppose the Haddad-Weingarten scheme for the redevelopment of the Laguna Grande. They attack him because he dares to support the establishment of a Payless Drug Store development in the Laguna Grande.

For months the Mayor and the Urban renewal had hidden from the people and the other city council members a development that was proposed for the Laguna Grande. Now that there is action from a genuine developer, who is ready to move right now, the mayor and his cohorts aren't too pleased because their pet project, in which they must have some interest is threatened. They are displeased to the point they have publicy attacked a businessman for daring to take part in the public affairs of his city.

I interviewed Mr. Handley recently and you better believe he is shook up. He feels that he has an important stake in our community. He has been here for 16 years and for the last eight to ten years the city has been "study zoning" his property. H and H pays as high as $77,000 in sales tax revenue on almost $2 million worth of business in a year. Recently he spent considerable money to go into a different type of business and to make his former warehouse more attractive, he did a major remodel job. He pays tax revenue on between 18 and 21 employees. He pays over $15,000 per year in property txes. Why shouldn't he be concerned. You would be, too, if the urban redevelopment scheme planned by Haddad-Weingarten and Russel Hoss was threatening your very existence. Under their scheme, it would be virually impossible for anyone to buy H and H out because they might have had to wait 10 or 15 years for the development to finally take over his corner. In the meantime Handley would have had a hard time leasing it to anyone. In other words, he would have been completely stymied to conduct his business in a normal manner.

Yes, I would say that that is a desperate situation. Handley supported the Payless development because, as he put it "at least here was one businessman who was interested in getting something going, instead of waiting for government to do it with public tax money." The private developer of this prokect plans to spend almost 4 million instead of having $10 million in tax money spent.

Handley concluded the interview with this meaningful statement; "it is important that myself and all other businessmen get involved and commit ourselves one way or the other. THIS CITY IS WORTH SAVING."

Amen, amen, amen. The whole purpose of the attack by the Haddad political sheet was to intimidate Handley and all other businessmen from daring to stick their noses into the affairs of the politicians who run this city. This was a warning, that anyone who doesn't agree with the "powers-that-be" will be publicy attacked.

We have been the target of those same scurrilous attacks, both publicy and behind our backs, but we at least have a newspaper with which to answer those attacks (if we thought they were important enough to answer). But when a private businessman is attacked by a politician through his own personal, political news organ, that is going too far.

Who Cares

By Mel Vercoe

Did you know that in less than two hundred years hardly anyone now alive will even remember your name? And did you know that education in America now costs as much as defense? Each man, woman and child in the U.S., if the cost had to be borne equally, would have to pay about three hundred fifty dollars for defense each year and slightly more for what we call education.

Much of this is a waste. We have enough nuclear warheads to wipe out all the people on earth five times over. All we would really have to do is simply fire off a few of them at some foreign country about once a year as a demonstration of our good faith and sincerity and chances are no one would seriously consider making trouble for us.

Thus we could dismiss and send home virtually everyone except our missile crews and at a saving of millions of dollars yearly - perhaps sixty thousand millions to be more precise. And morally and legally there should be no argument. Neither of those items has entered into our foreign policies for many years.

As for education, here again we could save a lot of money if we want to be realistic instead of idealistic. Much of our education effort goes into useless items, like forcing students to take foreign languages when not one in ten thousand will ever make use of said knowledge. Or teaching English literature to a youngster who hates it with such a passion that he will drop out of school before he gets anything actually useful out of high school. Then, too, we insist that slow learners be allowed to hold back the fast learners.

The list is long, but one other important item is that we insult the intelligence of our students. A youngster who knows he is going to be a car mechanic, come hell or high water, sees no sense at all to learning algebra or the names of the muscles and bones in the human body and he couldn't care less that Sgakespeare was born in 1564 and died for some reason in 1616.

So we wind up with a student not only disgusted with school but disgusted with his elders, and for all practical purposes reading, writing and arithmetic and auto shop will be useful to our future mechanic than all the biology and literature that was ever invented.

Then, too, we know from statistics that a certain percentage of our population will simply be unemployed by virtue of our growing technology. If we could run some simple tests and determine which of our first grade enrollees are most likely to wind up on welfare, we could save just gads of money by limiting their education to just learning how to tell time and read the calendar so they could pick up their checks. There is no point at all in having these people loaded down with complicated scientific and liberal arts educations.

OLDEST HATCHERY

California's oldest trout hatchery is located at Mount Shasta in Siskiyou County.

Questions and Answers

Q. My husband was killed in service and I want to take advantage of VA educational benefits. Can I get help in working out a program?

A. Yes. Apply to the VA for educational counseling, and professional counselors may be able to help you decide on a productive program.

Q -- My son was lost at sea during World War II. I would like to have a memorial marker to put in a private cemetery. Will the Army furnish one?

A -- Yes. Application forms for memorial markers are available at all VA offices, and should be mailed to the Office of the Chief Support Service, Department of the Army, Washington, D. C.

Q -- Does "paid-up" insurance pay dividends?

A -- Yes. However, when a policy is surrendered for reduce paid-up insurance the dividends will be based on the reduced amount. When limited payment policies such as 20-payment-life have all premiums paid-up, they continue to receive dividends.

Bands Named For School Competition

Names of 12 youthful jazz bands which will compete in the first California Honor High School Jazz Band Competition this Saturday at Monterey Peninsula College, have been announced.

The competition, first of its kind anywhere in the U.S., is sponsored by the Monterey Jazz Festival, in cooperation with Monterey Peninsula College and the National Association of Jazz Educators.

The bands that will be competing are: Burbank High School, Burbank; Carlmont High School, San Carlos; Corono High School, Corona; Excelsior High School, Norwalk; La Mirada High School, La-Mirada; Mirada Loma High School, Sacramento; Pacific High School, San Leandro; Reseda High School, Reseda; San Leandro High School, San Leandro; San Rafael High School, San Rafael; Tracy High School, Tracy and Ygnacio Valley High School, Concord.

The competition is open to the public at no charge. It will be held in the college theatre beginning at 9 a.m.

Adjudicators are: Dr. John Carrico, Music Department, University of Nevada in Reno, where he organized the Reno Jazz Band Festival which this year attracted more than 130 bands from elementary to college level; Dr. Herb Wong, educator and jazz broadcaster; Joel Leach, Director of Jazz Studies, San Fernando Valley State College, Northridge, California.

There will be a private banquet following the contest in the college student center for all competing bands. Winners will be announced at that time.

Then, following the banquet, a special concert will be held at 8:15 p.m. in the college gymnasium during which the winning band will perform. The famed Stan Kenton Orchestra will also perform.

The concert is open to the public.

Adjudicators for the High School Jazz Band competition also plan to select an all-star band from members of the competing groups. This all-star band and the winning band will perform during the Fourteenth Annual Monterey Jazz Festival, September 17, 18 and 19. The all-star band will be rehearsed for several days on the site of the Monterey Jazz Festival by a major jazz artist not yet announced.

Dodgers Sign Seaside Ace

Monterey Peninsula College's 210-pound pitcher Greg Heydeman of Seaside, who was recently named Most Valuable Player for 1971 in the Coast Conference, has signed with the Los Angeles Dodgers for a $20 000 bonus.

He selected the Dodgers' offer over several others- among them bids from the Huston Astros Atlanta Braves and New York Yankees - because, he says "the Dodgers want me to continue my education."

The contract will permit him to finish up a MPC in another year and to transfer thereafter to a four-year institution for two more years while playing pro baseball in the summers.

Ninth Graders Win Honors

Ninth graders from Walter Colton Junior High School were recently awarded industrial arts awards at the Salinas Valley County Fair, which was held in King City.

James Mattos and Niebel won second place awards for their decorative wrought iron swords.

In the ninth grade wood division Barry Albert won first place for his turned lamp and Lance Anderson won first prize for his game table.

Gawthrop was a Boy Scout in Wilmington, Delaware and throughout the years has had an active interest in Boy Scouting. He is chairman of the local Scout council's long range planning committee and exective board member.

Environment and Man Live In Harmony at Oak Shores

Oak Shores, General Resource Development's 3,000-acre private recreation development on the north shore of Lake Nacimiento, is one of the few projects where wildlife and man have combined forces for an unusual natural environment.

A wildlife haven, where no hunting is allowed, the ecology of Oak Shores is being preserved so that there is as little disturbance as possible to the spreading black oak trees and other growth in the area.

"Provision of access roads and necessary underground utilities to property owners' lots and the construction of vacation and weekend homes will take place, but, by far, the natural quality of the environment will be maintained," said Harry L. Browne, president of General Resource Development, of Paso Robles and Palo Alto.

There is no reason why man cannot live close to nature without destroying the ecology," he continued. "Man is, after all, a part of nature, a part of the scheme of things and, moreover, he has the intelligence to cope with it, even aid it to make it function even better than it does."

The property owners at Oak Shores are keenly interested in preserving the natural environment and the many different species of wildlife that exist there, Browne said.

"The people who buy lots at Oak Shores want only a place to live and stay while they enjoy the many forms of water-oriented sports offered by Lake Nacimiento. They need recreation and relaxation and are entitled to it," he declared.

Oak Shores is the only private preserve directly on the lake. Property owners and their children enjoy the sight of deer browsing among the groves of black oak and feeding on the beards of Spanish moss that hang from the branches of the trees. They love the call of the wild turkey and the sight of valley quail, scurrying unmolested among the trees. Feral goats, too, come down from the mountain sides to feed and drink from the lake.

The 17-mile-long lake is a natural for the outdoorsmen who like boating, waterskiing, fishing and swimming. The lake has 165 miles of shoreline, making it seven times larger than Lake Arrowhead.

Recognizing that sportsmen, outdoors and recreation-minded people enjoy a variety of sports, General Resource Development had virtually completed its Western Riding Center. The center is built around a century-old homesteader cabin in a rustic setting of black oak trees and rolling hills.

A system of riding trails leading to and from the equestrain center also is being built, but for the true adventurer on horseback, there is wide-open Tierra Redonda mountain and canyon country to explore.

Oak Shores property owners will be able to board their horses at the center. Rental horses will also be available, Browne said.

"But purchasers of Oak Shores lots are buying more than just a lot at Lake Nacimiento, they are also buying into San Luis Obispo County, California's newest vacation land," said Browne.

Located midway between Los Angeles and San Francisco, 24 miles northwest of Paso Robles, Oak Shores can be a spring-board for the property owner there to enjoy the other many activities San Luis Obispo County has to offer. It is only about 10 miles northeast of the famous Hearst Castle, San Simeon, now a State monument.

Gilmore Award Conferred

In honor of the laste N. Ray Gilmore, longtime history instructor at Monterey Peninsula College who passed away in October, 1970, the MPC Faculty Association has conferred its first annual "Gilmore Award."

The awardee, Keith Forrest Graham of Pebble Beach, will receive the Encyclopedia of World History and a copy of Kenneth Clark's "Civilization."

Graham was selected on the recommendation of Dr. Reuben Johnson, chairman of the college social science division, winning over other applicants who also met the qualifications as social science transfer students "with better-than-average academic records."

In his application, he quoted from "To Each Saint His Candle," a book he is writing. "I look to history," he worte, "to solve my problems of today... The answers are all there, in the records of civilization."

He said he plans to become a government lawyer and "possibly enter the field of politics."

Procedures and criteria for the Gilmore Award were established by an ad-hoc committee consisting of William Lindsay, MPCFA chairman, librarian Jeanne Inwood and political science instructor Carl Pohlhammer.

Dr. Gilmore was a resident, with his wife, of Carmel Valley.
